

We Will Miss You, Ms. Pam!

Mia Parke & Kaylee Graciano

We have some sad news. Ms. Pam is retiring! Without her, Newman is a less amazing place. Many teachers feel that she is like a second mother. By second mother, we mean that she takes care of everyone. Another wonderful thing about Ms. Pam is that she always puts other people before herself. She takes care of staff, community members, and students. The last thing we will miss about Ms. Pam is that she never stops smiling. Her smile welcomes students, parents, and teachers every day. We will all miss Ms. Pam and she will never be forgotten.

Thank you for everything you've done for us, Ms. Pam!

A Poem for Mrs. Pam

Rory Bayly

*Mrs. Pam, we love you dearly,
Your smile is always there yearly,
You clean up our cuts and scrapes,
You soothe our stomachaches.*

*We'll miss you, Ms. Pam,
You're such a nice lady, ma'am!
You comfort us,
You love us,
You're awesome, Ms. Pam!*

*Extremely helpful
Delightful to talk to
We'll miss you, Ms. Pam*

Counselor's Corner

Soren Wangsgard

For those of you who don't know, Ms. Van Epps is our guidance counselor at our school. She can help with many things such as big feelings, life changes, and interpersonal issues.

She also goes around and teaches classes about important life skills. In October, she taught about anti-bullying, emotional regulation, and the growth mindset. Anti-bullying teaches students how to identify and deal with bullying. Emotional regulation is learning to manage and maintain a steady emotional level when we have strong feelings. Lastly, growth mindset is changing your mind to always think to improve and learn from your mistakes.

In November, she will be teaching lessons about how to handle conflict.

Feel free to reach out to her if you have any problems or questions. She would gladly help!

Thanksgiving History

Emilie Kleinman

Have you ever wondered what the first Thanksgiving was really like? Well, the first Thanksgiving was celebrated by the Pilgrims and the Native Americans. The feast lasted for three days. 90 Native Americans and 53 Pilgrims attended it in the year 1621.

You might think that Thanksgiving was celebrated every year after that, but that's a lie! Thanksgiving was sometimes held, but it was not always at the end of November like it is today. President Abraham Lincoln established Thanksgiving as a national holiday, but it wasn't until the 20th century that Congress made Thanksgiving the 4th Thursday of November.

Historically, Thanksgiving was celebrated to give thanks for blessings, such as military victories or the end of a drought. Today we celebrate because we are thankful for what we have. Have a good Thanksgiving, everybody!

How to Rake Leaves

Rory Bayly

1. Try to get out of it.
2. If it works, good for you!
3. If it doesn't, keep going with the following steps.
4. Complain! Complain to your parents, your siblings, your dog, your fish, everybody!
5. Take the rake and move it away from you.
6. Pull it back to you.
7. Complain even more!
8. Go to the "bathroom" and try to hide in your room.
9. Go back out because parents know everything (it's true!).
10. Do 5 & 6 again until there is a pile.
11. Ruin your work and jump in it!
12. Repeat steps 1-11 as necessary.

The Life of Having Mixed Cultures at Thanksgiving

Lilli Jensen

I am Mexican, Italian, and German. Personally, it's amazing and I promise, I'm not bragging...well, sort of.

When I'm at my grandparents' dinner table at Thanksgiving, I see people I love, people that make me food, and people who hang out with me. Thanksgiving is a time for family.

When we eat together, we sometimes have Mexican, Italian, and German traditions. I see spaghetti and meatballs made by grandma on my mom's side. Enchiladas and rice and beans are shared by my grandma on my dad's side. Turkey and mashed potatoes come from my grandpa, dad, and uncle. And of course, I can't forget about cheesecake!

Every Thanksgiving, my family watches the football game. They are really loud! I don't watch it, but they like it. We also like building snowmen, if there is snow. We all have a great time!

I hope your Thanksgiving is just as good as mine, or even better. Happy Thanksgiving!
